Georgia Watch Web site becomes a more efficient consumer tool Watchdog organization revamps site with easier navigation, more resources

ATLANTA – Today Georgia Watch launched a newly renovated Web site with a more user-friendly format that will make finding answers to consumer questions easier and more efficient. The site, www.georgiawatch.org, will now act as a resource tool for consumers when researching access to justice and healthcare, energy issues, insurance, patient safety and predatory lending, among others.

In addition to information on our key issues, the site includes details about Georgia Watch's history and mission, staff members and outreach, legislative and policy news, along with reports and newsletters published by the organization. Links to news articles will also appear on the site to keep all of us informed about important consumer policy changes taking place locally and statewide.

Please visit the new site and let us know what you think! We are always open to suggestions on making www.georgiawatch.org as helpful as possible. If you have questions or comments please contact Georgia Watch Communications Coordinator Beth Malone at bmalone@georgiawatch.org or (404) 525-1085.
